

2020 RESIDENT/FELLOW RESEARCH AWARD

CALL FOR PROPOSALS - GENERAL INFORMATION AND REQUIREMENTS

The American Dermatological Association is pleased to announce its 2020 Dermatology Resident/Fellow research award. This is the highest honor we give to dermatologists in training and it is meant to stimulate research in areas of dermatology that have not been targeted with vigor in the past. To be considered for this award, the topic of your project should be related to novel studies involving:

1) The integral nature of Dermatology in the House of Medicine. The ADA is especially interested in research that highlights the collaboration of dermatology and other medical disciplines that advances healthcare for our patients.

OR

2) Issues and matters that could lead to the marginalization of Dermatology. This research should highlight issues that limit the ability of dermatologists to participate in the decision-making process involving a) healthcare systems including private insurers, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and other payers or b) in favor of other medical specialties.

To qualify for this award the research must have been completed so that data is available at the time of submission. The awarded recipient must be available in person to present their research to the general membership of the American Dermatological Association (ADA) at the Annual meeting being held in Dana Point, California from October 28 – November 1, 2020.

- The awardees will receive a monetary grant of $500.
- The cost of meeting attendance, along with room and meals will be paid for by the ADA.

Applicants must be an active Dermatology resident in good standing in an ACGME accredited Dermatology program or a Dermatology fellow having completed an ACGME accredited Dermatology residency within the past 5 years. Applicants must have the approval of their chairperson and capacity to present at the 2020 ADA annual meeting. A mentor who is a faculty member of an ACGME accredited Dermatology program must be identified and agree to provide support for the applicant's project. (Mentors need not be ADA members.) Applications must be submitted electronically with an attestation from the applicant's mentor and department chairperson unless they are one and the same.

Submission Deadline is July 1, 2020

Applications are available online on the ADA website under ADA 2020 Resident Research Award
